Customer Service & Support Options Knowledge Base

Purpose: This knowledge-base document defines how the NovaCart AI support agent should explain customer-service options, self-service tools, account management, order support, human assistance, and escalation paths.

NovaCart Support Number: 987654321

Important: The support number above is the NovaCart project contact number supplied for this knowledge base. It should be treated as the official support number only within the NovaCart environment where this document is deployed.

1. NovaCart Customer Service

NovaCart Customer Service is available to help customers with orders, deliveries, returns, replacements, refunds, payments, account access, subscriptions, product issues, and other supported shopping-related concerns.

Customers can use NovaCart self-service tools for common issues or contact a human support agent when they need assistance that cannot be completed through self-service or the AI assistant.

2. Main Support Channels

Channel	Purpose	AI Agent Guidance
NovaCart AI Chat	First-line support for common questions and guided troubleshooting.	Use existing knowledge base and verified customer/order data. Escalate when needed.
Phone Support	Human assistance for cases requiring conversation, verification, or sensitive information.	Provide 987654321 when phone support is appropriate.
Self-Service	Customers resolve common order/account issues themselves.	Guide the customer to the correct NovaCart section or workflow.
Human Escalation	Complex, sensitive, disputed, or unresolved cases.	Pass existing conversation context so the customer does not need to repeat information.

3. When Customers Should Contact NovaCart Support

- The customer cannot resolve an order issue through self-service.
- The order is delayed beyond the applicable tracking guidance.
- The package is marked delivered but has not been received.
- A return, replacement, or refund requires manual review.
- A payment was charged but the order failed.
- The customer disputes a refund, payment, or order outcome.
- The account has a security or access problem.
- A product has a potentially dangerous defect or safety issue.
- The customer explicitly asks for a human agent or manager.
- The AI does not have enough verified information to answer correctly.

4. Managing Orders

Customers can use the NovaCart Order History area to manage purchases and access order-specific information.

- View order details.
- Track a package.
- Review delivery information.
- Request cancellation when eligible.
- Start a return or replacement workflow when eligible.
- View available invoice/order documentation.

- Get help with orders fulfilled or shipped by participating sellers.

5. Order-Specific AI Behavior

Order ID already known

Reuse the order ID from the current session. Do not ask the customer to repeat it unnecessarily.

Order ID missing

Ask for the minimum safe identifier needed to locate the order.

Multiple orders

Ask which order the customer means only when the conversation context does not make it clear.

Multiple items

Identify the specific item/shipment because items may have separate tracking and delivery information.

No verified order data

Do not invent order details. Explain that the system cannot currently verify the requested information and offer escalation.

6. Returns, Replacements & Refunds

- Customers can initiate an eligible return or replacement through the order-support workflow.
- Return eligibility depends on the applicable product/category policy and return window.
- Damaged, defective, missing-accessory, and wrong-item cases may require verification.
- Refund status should be checked using verified transaction data.
- The AI must not promise a refund amount or completion date without verified information.
- If the self-service return/refund process fails, the case can be escalated to human support.

7. Managing Returns

Customers should use the NovaCart returns area to view active returns, review status, and follow the applicable return workflow.

AI rule: If a customer asks “Where is my return?” or “Where is my refund?”, distinguish between return status and refund status. They are different states and should not be treated as the same.

8. Managing Customer Account Information

Customers can manage their personal account information through NovaCart Account settings.

- Name and profile information.
- Registered email address.
- Registered mobile number.
- Password and account-security settings.
- Payment methods.
- Transaction/payment information where supported.

9. Account & Login Support

- For password problems, direct the customer to the approved account-recovery workflow.
- Never ask the customer to provide their password.
- Never request or accept OTP, PIN, CVV, recovery codes, or full payment-card details.
- For suspected unauthorized account access, prioritize account security and escalate when required.
- If the AI cannot verify or resolve the account issue, route the customer to human support.

10. Payment Support

- Customers can manage supported payment methods through their account.
- For failed payments, guide the customer through the supported retry/payment workflow.
- For charged-but-failed orders, verify the transaction before discussing refunds.
- For disputed transactions, escalate to the appropriate payment-support workflow.
- Never ask customers to disclose authentication secrets.
