

NovaCart Support

Order Tracking & Delivery Knowledge Base

Purpose: This document is the dedicated knowledge-base source for NovaCart's AI support agent when handling order tracking, delivery status, courier identification, delayed shipments, in-transit issues, undeliverable packages, and orders marked as delivered but not received.

Grounding rule: The AI must use verified NovaCart order/tracking data whenever the customer asks about a specific order. It must not invent a tracking status, courier, delivery date, location, or resolution.

1. Order Tracking — Core Policy

Customers can access their NovaCart order history to find order details and tracking information. For a specific order, the support agent should first identify the relevant order and then use the available tracking information.

The standard NovaCart tracking flow is:

- Open Your Orders / Order History.
- Identify the order that the customer wants to track.
- Open Track Package for that order.
- Open See All Updates to view the shipment timeline and available delivery-partner information.

2. Multiple Items in One Order

An order can contain multiple items. Each item may have its own delivery date, shipment, tracking information, and delivery status.

Agent rule: Do not assume that all items in one order share the same delivery date or tracking number. If the customer asks about a particular item, identify the item first.

3. Seller-Shipped Orders

Seller-shipped items may have tracking information only when the seller has shared the tracking details with NovaCart or when the shipment method provides traceable tracking.

Agent rule: If tracking information is unavailable for a seller-shipped item, do not fabricate a courier or tracking ID. Explain that tracking depends on information supplied by the seller and escalate/contact the seller workflow when appropriate.

4. Identifying the Delivery Partner

A NovaCart order may be delivered by NovaCart or by a third-party courier. The delivery partner should be identified from verified order/tracking data.

For seller-shipped products, the order/product information may indicate that the product is sold and shipped by the seller.

Agent rule: Never guess the delivery partner from the tracking number format alone. Use the verified shipment data.

5. Delayed Package Policy

When a package has passed its estimated delivery date, the customer should first check the latest tracking updates. The supplied source specifies the following waiting guidance:

- NovaCart-shipped package: allow one additional day after the estimated delivery date.
- Third-party courier package: allow up to five additional days after the estimated delivery date.

Important: This waiting guidance should only be applied when the shipment type is verified. If the AI cannot determine whether the shipment is NovaCart-shipped or third-party, it must not guess.

6. In-Transit Issues

Customers should check the tracking timeline for the exact status message and follow the instructions associated with that status.

Important in-transit/problem statuses include messages such as:

- Problem occurred
- Returning to Seller
- Undeliverable

If the tracking status indicates an address or delivery problem, the customer should verify that the shipping address is complete and accurate.

A complete address may include:

- Building name or number
- Street number
- Area or locality
- Nearest landmark
- City, town or village
- Correct PIN code

7. Undeliverable Package

If an order is marked undeliverable, the AI should first explain the verified status and then guide the customer to check the shipping address and tracking instructions.

Common address checks include building/house information, street, locality, landmark, city/town/village, and PIN code.

Agent rule: Do not claim that an order will automatically be re-shipped, refunded, or cancelled unless the order system or applicable NovaCart policy confirms the outcome.

8. Package Marked 'Delivered' but Not Received

If tracking says the package was delivered but the customer has not received it, the customer should contact NovaCart Support within seven days of the order being marked as delivered.

The AI should gather the order ID and use the available delivery information. If the package cannot be located through the supported workflow, escalate the missing-package case.

9. What the AI Should Ask

- What is your NovaCart order ID?
- Which item in the order are you asking about, if the order contains multiple items?
- What does the latest tracking update say?
- Has the estimated delivery date already passed?
- Is the package shown as delivered, delayed, returning to seller, or undeliverable?
- If marked delivered, when was it marked delivered?

Context rule: If the customer already provided the order ID and item, do not ask for them again unless the information is ambiguous or invalid.

10. Order Tracking Response Rules

Specific order status available

State the latest verified status and the verified estimated delivery information.

No tracking data

Explain that tracking information is not currently available and avoid inventing a courier/status.

Delayed

State the verified estimated date, explain the applicable waiting guidance, and offer escalation when the supported threshold is exceeded.

Problem occurred

Tell the customer to follow the tracking instructions and escalate if the issue cannot be resolved from available information.

Returning to seller

Explain that the shipment is shown as returning to the seller and escalate/check the order workflow for the next resolution.

Undeliverable

Ask the customer to verify the shipping address and follow the supported undeliverable-package workflow.

Delivered but not received

Follow the missing-package workflow and escalate when the package cannot be located.

Seller-shipped with no tracking

Explain that seller-shipped tracking depends on information supplied by the seller; do not invent tracking information.

Q27	Can I change my delivery date?	Only if the available delivery workflow supports rescheduling for the order.

ID	Customer question	NovaCart answer
Q28	What if nobody is home when the courier arrives?	Follow the verified delivery workflow for the shipment. The AI must not invent a reattempt schedule.
Q29	My package is delayed by one day. Should I contact support?	For a NovaCart-shipped package, the supplied guidance says to allow one additional day. Check tracking before contacting support.
Q30	My third-party package is delayed by two days.	The supplied guidance allows up to five additional days for third-party courier packages. Check tracking for updates.
Q31	My package is delayed by more than the allowed waiting period.	Check the latest verified tracking status and escalate the shipment issue.
Q32	How do I check the courier?	Open Track Package and See All Updates; the verified shipment details should identify the delivery partner where available.
Q33	Can a seller ship my order directly?	Yes. Seller-shipped items can have separate tracking information when the seller provides it or the shipping method is traceable.
Q34	My seller has not provided tracking.	Tracking availability depends on the seller sharing tracking information. The issue can be escalated or the seller contacted.
Q35	Why does each item have a different delivery date?	Items can be shipped separately, so each item may have its own delivery date and tracking information.
Q36	My package was marked delivered yesterday but I never received it.	Because it is marked delivered but not received, use the missing-package workflow and contact support within the allowed time frame.
Q37	The courier says delivered but my order is not here.	Use the verified delivery information and missing-package workflow. Escalate if the package cannot be located.
Q38	Can you guarantee my package arrives today?	No. The AI should provide only the verified estimated delivery information and must not make an unsupported guarantee.
Q39	Can you tell me the exact delivery time?	Only if the verified delivery system provides an exact time or delivery slot. Otherwise provide the available estimated delivery time.
Q40	Why is the delivery estimate changing?	Delivery estimates can change as tracking information is updated. Use the latest verified estimate.
Q41	My order says shipped but there is no movement.	Check the latest tracking event. If the shipment remains without updates beyond the supported threshold, escalate the issue.
Q42	What should I do if tracking shows a problem?	Read the specific tracking message and follow its instructions. Escalate if the instructions do not resolve the issue.
Q43	What address details should I verify?	Verify building/house number, street, area/locality, landmark, city/town/village and PIN code.
Q44	My PIN code is wrong. What should I do?	If the order workflow permits an address correction, use it; otherwise escalate. Do not promise an address change.
Q45	Can I contact the seller for seller-shipped orders?	Yes. Seller-shipped issues may be handled through the seller-contact workflow when appropriate.
Q46	Can I track a seller-shipped order?	Yes, when the seller has provided tracking information or the shipment method is traceable.
Q47	Why can't I see tracking for my seller order?	The seller may not have supplied tracking information, or the shipment may not use a traceable method.
Q48	What does 'returning to seller' mean?	It means the tracking system currently shows the package as being returned to the seller.
Q49	What does 'undeliverable' mean?	It means the shipment could not be delivered through the current delivery process. Verify the address and follow the return instructions.
Q50	What should I do after my package is marked delivered but not received?	Contact support within seven days of the delivered status and follow the missing-package process.
Q51	Can you track an order without an order ID?	For account-specific tracking, an order ID or verified account/order context is normally needed. The AI should ask for the order ID.
Q52	I already gave you my order ID. Why are you asking again?	You shouldn't need to repeat it if it is still available in the session. The agent should reuse the existing order context.
Q53	Can you remember my order ID?	Yes, during the current support session the agent should retain the order ID so you do not have to repeat it unnecessarily.
Q54	I have two orders. Which one are you tracking?	Please identify the order you mean, or provide the relevant order ID if it is not clear from the conversation.
Q55	My order has two shipments.	That can happen when items are shipped separately. Each shipment may have its own tracking information and status.
Q56	My tracking information conflicts with what the courier told me.	The AI should rely on verified NovaCart tracking data and escalate if the information cannot be reconciled.
Q57	The tracking says delivered but the courier never came.	Use the missing-package workflow and escalate for delivery verification.
Q58	My package is delayed because of an address issue.	Verify the complete shipping address and follow the instructions shown in tracking. Escalate if the address is correct.
Q59	I want a human agent to check my package.	Yes. The conversation can be escalated to human support, and the existing order context should be passed along.
Q60	Can I give feedback about the tracking support?	Yes. Use the  feedback control or provide a short comment.

13. AI Response Templates

Normal tracking: “I found your order {order_id}. The latest verified status is {status}, with an estimated delivery of {date}.”

Delayed: “Your order is past its estimated delivery date. The latest tracking status is {status}. Based on the applicable shipment type, the current guidance is {waiting_guidance}.”

Delivered but missing: “Your order is showing as delivered, but you haven't received it. This needs the missing-package workflow. Please contact NovaCart Support within seven days of the delivered status.”

Undeliverable: “Your tracking shows the package as undeliverable. Please verify your full shipping address, including building/house, street, locality, landmark, city/town/village and PIN code.”

No tracking: “I don't have verified tracking information for this shipment. I don't want to guess the courier or package status. I can escalate this for further help.”

Human escalation: “I can escalate this to a human support agent. I'll pass along the order and issue details already provided so you don't have to repeat them.”

14. Order Tracking Guardrails

- Never fabricate a tracking ID, courier, shipment location, status, or delivery date.
- Never claim a package is lost solely because the estimated delivery date has passed.
- Never assume all items in one order have the same delivery date.
- Never assume seller-shipped packages have tracking information.
- Never promise automatic refund/replacement after an undeliverable or returning-to-seller status unless verified.
- Never expose another customer's tracking or address information.
- Never ask for passwords, OTPs, PINs, CVVs, or full card numbers.
- If the order status is ambiguous or contradictory, escalate rather than guessing.

18. Example Multi-Turn Flows

Flow A — Delayed package

Customer: Where is order NC1024?

Agent: I have order NC1024. Let me check the verified tracking status.

Customer: It was due yesterday.

Agent: The latest status is {status}. Since this is a {shipment_type} shipment, the applicable delay guidance is {guidance}.

Flow B — Delivered but missing

Customer: My package says delivered but I don't have it.

Agent: I can help with that. Please confirm the order if it is not already in the session. Because it is marked delivered but not received, the missing-package workflow applies and support should be contacted within seven days of the delivered status.

Flow C — Multiple items

Customer: Where is my order?

Agent: I can check it. Your order contains multiple shipments. Which item are you asking about? If the item is already clear from the conversation, the agent should not ask again.

Flow D — Undeliverable

Customer: Why can't you deliver my package?

Agent: The tracking shows the shipment as undeliverable. Please verify your complete shipping address. If the address is correct and the issue remains, I can escalate the case.
